

The Mezzanine Gallery to Exhibit Marcie Tauber's "Caldera" Fused Glass Bowls

Delaware Division of the Arts

Filigree Caldera, 2016,
fused glass, 10" diameter

Wilmington, Del. (April 3, 2017) – Tauber's bowls are inspired by the cauldron-like depressions created by the inward collapse of a volcano, also known as calderas. In her studio, patterned glass is slumped (or collapsed) into deeper molds in a hot kiln. The result – a caldera. This form enables Tauber to tell a story on both the inside and outside surfaces of the bowl, and allows light to play an important part in the presentation.

The exhibition will be on view from April 7-28 with an opening reception on Friday, April 7, from 5-7 p.m. The reception is free and open to the public.
